

Public-Private Sector Partnerships

Central to the realm of cyber threat intelligence sharing and cooperation are Public-Private Partnerships (PPPs). Understanding the platforms, mechanisms, and protocols supporting PPP, as well as embracing best practices, is crucial for establishing neutral third-party environments to exchange intelligence regarding the Tools, Tactics, and Procedures (TTPs) employed by cybercriminals.

This course aims to explain cybersecurity impacts due to the global trend in privatizing and outsourcing critical infrastructure operations, as well as to introduce best practices and platforms, mechanisms and protocols for supporting PPP, which is important for sharing intelligence about TTPs used by cybercriminals. The course will feature guest lectures from 3 global public-private organisations.
