

WEDNESDAY, 4 DECEMBER

8:00-8:45	Registration
8:45-9:00	Opening of conference (HSS Auditorium, Level B1) Prof KK Luke, Acting Chair of the School of Humanities
9:00-10:00	Plenary @ HSS Auditorium, Level B1 Speaker: Anna Sjöberg, recipient of the Greenberg Award Title: Knowledge predication - a semantic typology
10:00-10:30	Morning tea
	Dravidian Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Chair: Martin Haspelmath	Mirativity/Reported Speech Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Chair: Ljuba Veselinova	Valency/Agreement Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Chair: Anna Bugaeva	Sino-Tibetan/Kra-Dai Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Chair: Alexander R. Coupe
10:30-11:00	Anindita Sahoo, Akshay Rajan, & Foong Ha Yap On the extended uses of copulas in Malayalam and other Dravidian languages	Philippe Antoine Martinez Engagement as part of the broader domain of knowledge management in Chhitkul-Rākchham (West-Himalayish): the postverbal clitic =nir	Lilian Guerrero Valency and body parts: alternative coding of dressing/undressing events	Wen Lu, Man Shan Hui, & Pui Yiu Szeto Convergence zones in Central China
11:00-11:30	Johan van der Auwera & Umarani Pappuswamy 'At least' indefinites in Dravidian	Lingzi Zhuang Towards a parametrically-articulated typology of mirativity	Jerzy Gaszewski Surlatives as valency markers: exploring a pattern in argument marking found in European languages	Shuya Zhang & Yunfan Lai Revisiting recipient-beneficiary marking in Mainland Southeast Asian languages: the versatile lo ⁵¹ in Jiamao (oral)
11:30-12:00	Gunti Prem Sagar, Foong Ha Yap, & Anindita Sahoo On the intransitivizing uses of kon/kol in Dravidian languages	Denys Teptiuk & Tatiana Nikitina Towards a typology of scope and position misalignment: The case of reported speech constructions	Kevin Behrens Verbal agreement in European sign languages	Muhammad Zakaria & David A. Peterson Pathways between applicative, causative, and middle
12:00-13:30	Lunch
	Case Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Chair: Sonia Cristofaro	Classifiers Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Chair: Yunfan Lai	Word Order Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Chair: I Wayan Arka	Word Class and Adjectives Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Chair: Johan van der Auwera
13:30-14:00	Yui Suzuki Differential subject marking in Turkish complement clauses: A corpus study	Qi Huang Contrast and referentiality of Meixian Hakka numeral classifiers in exophoric and endophoric contexts—implications for grammaticalization scenarios	Liwei Gong, Satoshi Uehara, & Heiko Narrog Word order variation split by predication types: subject-predicate word order in predicate-initial languages	Kira Davey & Keira Mullan Beyond canonical typology: A framework for the typological study of major word classes
14:00-14:30	Jiang Ling Exploring Cross-Linguistic Patterns in Experiencer Constructions		Yasutomo Kuwana & Hisao Tokizaki Order of Noun and Adjective in Word Order Typology	Luca Alfieri, Daniela Baldassarre, Diego Luinetti, Leonardo Montesi, & Maria Simoniello Levels of analysis, quality modifier encoding and adjectival typology
14:30-15:00	Naonori Nagaya & Mai Hayashi Differential object marking in Tagalog		Nikolaus P. Himmelmann Prosody in the study of word order: when is a language V-initial?	Luca Alfieri How much history in typology? A typologically-consistent, text-based, quantitative approach to the reconstruction of the Proto-Indo-European adjective class
15:00-15:30	Afternoon tea
	Conditionals Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Chair: Jeanette Sakel	Verbal Morphology Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Chair: Michael Dunn	Cognitive/Lexical Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Chair: Gede Rajeg	Phonology Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Chair: Shelece EASTERDAY
15:30-16:00	Tom Bossuyt Improving the semantic map of additivity: Free-choice indefinite pronouns and universal concessive conditionals	Katherine Walker & Eva van Lier A typology of conditional indexing	Wiltrud Mihatsch How grammar steers lexical change: linking linguistic relativity and lexical typology	Lulu Zou & Cathryn Yang A diachronic typological approach to the development of complex contour tones
16:00-16:30	Jesus Olguin The interaction of irrealis markers in conditional constructions: A typological account	Tom Koss Future and past tenses in binary tense systems	Edmond Cane & Artur Jaupaj Evolution and entrenchment of basic color terms in Albanian from a usage-based cognitivist angle	Carolyn Siegman Fricatives or approximants: A typology of stop-to-continuant processes
16:30-17:00	Phillip G. Rogers & Jesus Olguin If we hadn't done this, we wouldn't know: A cross-linguistic analysis of competing strategies for expressing counterfactual conditionals	Egor Kashkin A non-standard grammaticalization path of visual perception verbs: evidence from Tatyshly Udmurt"	Anna Sjöberg Patterns of motivation in cognition lexicon	Ronald P. Schaefer & Francis O. Egbokhare Tense, Temporal Distance, and Tone: A Case Study from West Africa
17:00-17:30		Wesley Kuhron Jones How pragmatic implicature can thwart a common grammaticalization pathway: From location to completion in Horokoi	Matías Guzmán Naranjo & Marvin Martiny Errors, mistakes and typological claims	Adam James Ross Tallman et al. Quantifying misalignments in morphosyntactic and phonological domains in cross-linguistic perspective: a case study of the Americas

THURSDAY, 5 DECEMBER

8:30-10:30	Poster exhibition @ SHHK Foyer
9:30-10:30	Morning tea
	Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Workshop: Exploring the feasibility of integrating Radical Construction Grammar and The Creation of Meaning for language description and typological comparison Convenors: Shihong Zhou & Lin Lu	Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Workshop: Proper names and their morphosyntactic behavior – special or not Convenors: Thomas Stolz & Julia Nintemann	Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Workshop: Understudied aspects of phasal polarity Convenors: Ljuba Veselinova, Anastasia Panova, & Bastian Persohn	Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Workshop: Replication & reproducibility in quantitative typology Convenors: Laura Becker, Matias Guzmán Naranjo, & Frederik Hartmann	Conference Room (Level 5) Workshop: Valency and valency alternations within and across language boundaries Convenors: Guglielmo Inglesè, Silvia Luraghi, Chiara Zanchi, & Michael Daniel	HSS Auditorium (Level B1) Workshop: Dependency Grammar for Typology Convenors: Erica Biagetti, Luca Brigada Villa, Andrew Dyer, Diego Alves, Annemarie Verkerk, & Luigi Talamo
10:30-11:00	Workshop introductory talk Randy LaPolla Background and key concepts of the two approaches and the motivation for bringing them together for a more empirical and comprehensive approach to typology and language description	Thomas Stolz & Julia Nintemann Workshop Introduction by convenors	Jeanette Sakel Phasal polarity in Mosetén	Laura Becker, Matias Guzmán Naranjo, & Frederik Hartmann Workshop Introduction by convenors	Anna Bugaeva A diachronic study of anticausatives in Ainu	Erica Biagetti, Luca Brigada Villa, Andrew Dyer, Diego Alves, Annemarie Verkerk, & Luigi Talamo Workshop Introduction by convenors
11:00-11:30	Na Liu Mapping the causative continuum in Mandarin: An empirical approach	Yi-yang Cheng & Andre Godechic Case Marker Syncretism and Proper Names in Matu'uwal Atayal, an Austronesian Language of Taiwan	Neige Rochant The eccentricities of phasal polarity in Pukur (Atlantic)	Frederic Blum Replicating sound symbolism: Overcoming bias and generalizability challenges in quantitative typology	Gede Primahadi W. Rajeg, Charlotte Hemmings, I Wayan Arka, & Engga Zakaria Sangian Enggano Middle Voice and Valence Over Time	Yanding Guo Dependency Distance May Not Exhibit Significant Difference in Word Order Typology: A token-based Study Based on 'Dependency Dropping' Hypothesis
11:30-12:00	Lin Lu Constructing a Reference Grammar from a Typological Perspective: Integrating the Creation of Meaning Theory and Radical Construction Grammar—The Case of O.Thog Tibetan	Lukas Denk Why Inverse Systems are Not Sensitive to Proper Names	Philipp Tuchak Phasal polarity in an endangered idiom: the case of South Ladic	Mae Carroll & Sacha Beniamine A 'data-direct' typology of exponence	So Miyagawa Noun Incorporation and Verbal Valency in Coptic from a Typological Perspective	Hing-Yuet Fung An oblique case of asymmetry: Word orders in OV/VO languages and languages without a dominant word order
12:00-13:30	Lunch
	Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Workshop: Exploring the feasibility of integrating Radical Construction Grammar and The Creation of Meaning for language description and typological comparison (cont.)	Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Workshop: Proper names and their morphosyntactic behavior – special or not (cont.)	Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Workshop: Understudied aspects of phasal polarity (cont.)	Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Workshop: Replication & reproducibility in quantitative typology (cont.)	Conference Room (Level 5) Workshop: Valency and valency alternations within and across language boundaries (cont.)	HSS Auditorium (Level B1) Workshop: Dependency Grammar for Typology (cont.)
13:30-14:00	Xu Yang A Study of Bodily Sensation Events and Their Constructions in Mandarin Chinese	David Erschler Personal Names and Marking Split with Secondary Cases in Upper Bat Svan	Irene Gorbunova Phasal Polarity in Telengut (Northern Altai)	Daniel Ross The effects of terminological variation for large-scale typology: A comparison of rigorous typological surveys to Grambank entries	Shan Cong, Nargil, Brigitte Pakendorf, & Natalia Stoyanova Valency patterns across Northern Tungusic: internal vs. contact-induced changes as revealed through corpora	Olga Nádvorníková & Alexandr Rosen Cross-linguistic variations in syntactic complexity: insights from a multilingual parallel corpus
14:00-14:30	Zhou Yao Research on the Tibetan Ergative Case Construction	Thomas Stolz Familiarity-based splits in the grammar of toponyms	Jessica K. Ivani & Taras Zakharo Aspects of phasal polarity in Suansu	Martin Haspelmath Robust and transparent database publication in typology: Language parameters and construction parameters in the CrossGram data registry	Giuseppina di Bartolo Variation and change of valency patterns of Ancient Greek request verbs	Antoni Brosa-Rodríguez, M. Dolores Jiménez-López, & Adrià Torrens-Urrutia A Gradient Language Universal (GLU) Model for Quantifying Typological Universality and Language Complexity from UD data
14:30-15:00	Tao Zhang A Typological Approach to Chinese Modal Auxiliary Construction: A case of Yao-MAC in Chinese	Julia Nintemann On the special status of toponyms and anthroponyms in spatial constructions	Cherry Chit-Yu Lam Negative markers and the evolution of yes-no questions in Cantonese	Hedvig Skirgård & Annemarie Verkerk Controlling for genealogical and spatial autocorrelation: what do(n't) we lose by sampling?	György Rákosi Datives and for -PPs in competition: A diachronic change in Hungarian	Natalia Levshina The number of core arguments in corpora with Universal Dependencies: The role of communicative efficiency and culture
15:00-15:30	Afternoon Tea
	Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Workshop: Exploring the feasibility of integrating Radical Construction Grammar and The Creation of Meaning for language description and typological comparison (cont.)	Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Workshop: Proper names and their morphosyntactic behavior – special or not (cont.)	Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Workshop: Understudied aspects of phasal polarity (cont.)	Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Workshop: Replication & reproducibility in quantitative typology (cont.)	Conference Room (Level 5) Workshop: Valency and valency alternations within and across language boundaries (cont.)	HSS Auditorium (Level B1) Workshop: Dependency Grammar for Typology (cont.)
15:30-16:00	Shihong Zhou Signaling Who Has the Rights to Know Better : Interpersonal Tag Constructions Marked by Particles Hao (好) and Ao (噯) in Northeastern Mandarin Chinese	Wang Qi & Anders Holmberg The morphology of Chinese proper names	Anastasia Panova On dedicatedness of phasal polarity expressions: evidence from Gawarbatl (Indo-Aryan)	Antoni Brosa-Rodríguez Revisitation of Greenbergian Dominant Basic Word Order in Computational Quantitative Typology	Jacob Menschel Beyond voice: covert symmetrical diathesis alternations in Andoke (Northwestern Amazonia)	Althea Löfgren, Santiago Herrera, Bruno Guillaume, Natalia Levshina, & Sylvain Kahane Exploring Sampling Strategies for Linguistic Diversity: A Comparative Analysis of UD Treebanks
16:00-16:30	Huang Xiyue The passive constructions in Cuntou Tuha: An analysis based on Radical Construction Grammar	Yu Li The definiteness marking on proper names in Zauzou, a Tibeto-Burman language in China	Ljuba Veselinova & Tihomir Rangelov Phasal polarity expressions: a cross-linguistic and intragenealogical study	Colin Bannard, Emity Hanink, Jens Hopperditzel, Andrew Koontz-Garboden, & Siena Weingartz Biases in the lexical category of property concept words: A reevaluation of Dixon (1982)	Sebastian Dom, Leora Bar-el, Ponsiano Kanijo, & Malin Petzell The noncausal/causal alternation: Variation and diachrony in selected Bantu languages	Yingqi Jing, Robert Östling, Joakim Nivre, & Michael Dunn Multilevel phylogenetic inference of syntactic harmony
16:30-17:00		Maria Pupynina & Yukari Nagayama Sex-specific forms of personal names in Chukchi and Alutor	Iker Salaberri & Borja Ariztimuño-Lopez Grammaticalization of tense-aspect-mood and the typology of NOT YET expressions	Megane Lesuisse Reproducibility & Diverging results for a typology of Motion events: Eight reasons why	Daria Alfimova Each Baltic valency is Baltic in its own way: Evidence from a parallel corpus of film subtitles	Maria Bardaji, Elsie Marie T. Or, Angelina Aquino, & Nikolaus P. Himmelmann The challenges of symmetrical voice languages for Universal Dependencies
17:00-17:30	Workshop discussion session	Workshop discussion session	Workshop discussion session	Workshop discussion session	Martina Giuliani & Claudia Corbetta In the "middle" of Late Latin and Old Italian: analyzing the middle continuum through verb valency patterns and alternations	Michael Dunn The Animacy Hierarchy derived from multilingual corpus data
18:30-22:00	Conference Banquet @ RSYC

POSTERS

Sune Gregersen & Eva van Lier

A cross-linguistic survey of habitual markers

Lukas Denk

Allomorphs remain complex when they are prominent and frequent

Shelece Easterday

Are primal consonant inventory gaps diachronically stable?

Ian Joo & Yu-Yin Hsu

Comparing phonological profiles via Phonotacticon, a phonotactic database

Xiaoxue Sun

Correlations between Classifiers and Plurality

Yuan-Lin Mickey Yang

Cross the Domains or Not? Typological Implications of Toda Seediq Modal Auxiliaries

Kseniia Erokhina & Irene Gorbunova

Hiding behind my back: deictic system shift in Southern Ludian

Reb Nuñez

Imperatives in Marinduque Tagalog: Evidence of Aspectual Inflection

Elizabeth Zeitoun

Impersonal pronouns in Formosan languages

Stacy Fang-ching Teng

Inclusory pronominal constructions in Formosan languages

Nataliya Levkovych

Loan conjunctions in the languages of the world

Jayden Macklin-Cordes, Thomas Ennever, Mitchell Browne, & Maria Copot

Locative functions beyond space and time: Pama-Nyungan case semantics reflect ahistorical processes

Matthias Urban

Radical typology: root structure preferences and their conditioning factors across languages

Daniela Casartelli

Reported Speech Without Reporting Speech: A Typological Discussion

Na Song

Temporary vs. Permanent existential in Baoding (Sinitic): A function-based extension

Petr Kocharov & Lilit Kharatyan

The Classical Armenian Valency Lexicon

FRIDAY, 6 DECEMBER

9:00-10:00	Plenary @ HSS Auditorium (Level B1) Speaker: Sami Honkasalo, recipient of the Pāṇini Award Title: Geshiza and cultural anchoring in descriptive grammars
10:00-10:30	Morning tea
	Space Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Chair: Michael Cysouw	Tibeto-Burman/ Linguistic Areas Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Chair: David A. Peterson	Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Workshop: Valency and valency alternations within and across language boundaries (cont.)	Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Workshop: Dependency Grammar for Typology (cont.)
10:30-11:00	Jonathon Lum, Eleanor Yacopetti, Laurits Stapput Knudsen, & Tom Ennever Monodirectionality and the intrinsic frame of reference	Lu Jun & Na Liu Honorific Forms of Personal Pronouns in Tibeto-Burman Languages and Their Typological Significance	Guglielmo Inglese & Jean-Christophe Verstraete Anticausative constructions in Australian languages: a synchronic and diachronic typology	Diego Alves Measuring the effects of language contact using word-order entropy: The case of Nheengatu
11:00-11:30	Maïke Vorholt On Maltese prepositions in coordinating constructions	Shobhana Chelliah & Grayson Ziegler Facilitating typological comparison across Tibeto-Burman languages using Hierarchical Interlinear Glossed Text (HIGT)	Victor Bogren Svensson Reduction in the Austronesian Voice System in Takituduh Bunun	Hedvig Skirgård Using UD to explore cross-linguistic structural complexity
11:30-12:00	Shogo Mizuno Axial forms exhibit stronger cohesion with the ground nominal than directional markers	Andrey Drinfeld The case for a Trans-Asian linguistic area	Yang Xiao Verb-Marked Voice or Beyond? – Benefactives in Three Sinitic Languages	Phillip G. Rogers Missing the forest for the trees: The role of syntactic distributional information in the architecture of the lexicon
12:00-13:30	Lunch
	Comparatives Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Chair: Tamisha Tan	Oceanic Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Chair: Ian Joo	Diachrony/Negation Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Chair: Hedvig Skirgård	Interrogatives Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Chair: Umarani Pappuswamy
13:30- 14:00	Martin Haspelmath & Shogo Mizuno Some universals of comparative constructions: Revisiting Greenberg, Stassen and Heine	Lidia Federica Mazzitelli Passive constructions in Oceanic languages: typology and variation	Sonia Cristofaro Typological explanations in synchrony and diachrony: The emergence of accusative alignment in case marking cross-linguistically	Hongmei Fang Echo answers
14:00-14:30	Zhou Bei Degree markers: a typology perspective	Alexandre François Morphogenesis from generic nouns: Insights from Vanuatu	Sasha Wilmoth From nominal to verbal negation in Western Desert (Pama-Nyungan): an alternative Negative Existential Cycle	Tianhua Luo Rethinking interrogative verbs: A typological rarum
14:30-15:00	Sami Honkasalo Cumulative comparatives: At the crossroads of aspect and comparative constructions?	Daniel Krauß Moving into the periphery: Adpositional verbs in Melanesia	Olga Krasnoukhova, Shahar Shirtz, & Annemarie Verkerk Typology and diachrony of negation across three predication domains: The case of Indo-European.	Siyu Liu & Michael Cysouw Comparative categories for content interrogatives
15:00-15:30	Afternoon tea
	Causality Seminar Room 9 (Level B1) Chair: David Erschler	Motion Seminar Room 8 (Level 1) Chair: Lin Jingxia	Austronesian Seminar Room 7 (Level 1) Chair: Tamisha Tan	TBA Seminar Room 6 (Level 1) Chair: TBA
15:30-16:00	Guglielmo Inglese, Fabio Gasparini, & Maurizio Viano Basic valency in Semitic: a comparative diachronic outlook	Yo Matsumoto, Anna Bordilovskaya, Kiyoko Eguchi, Sakura Ishikawa, Yuko Morokuma, & Yuko Yoshinari The progressive and the attainment of a goal in motion-event descriptions: evidence from a crosslinguistic experimental study	I Wayan Arka Exploring the Attrition and Demise of Symmetricality in Austronesian Voice Systems: Insights from Barrier Islands Languages of Indonesia and Beyond	Andrey Drinfeld & Jose Antonio Jódar-Sánchez 'And' verbs in Torricelli languages: description, typology, and diachrony
16:00-16:30	Daria Belova Towards the semantic typology of permissive causatives	Christine Lamarre, Na Song, & Kemin Sun Associated Motion markers and Directionals in Sinitic languages	Maria Bardaji i Farre Verum existentials in western Austronesian: a further case for the typology of existential constructions	Agnès Conrad Bare Classifiers in a Contact Zone of Southwest China: Case study of Eastern Minyag
16:30-17:00	ALT Business Meeting @ HSS Auditorium Address by President of ALT, Finance Update, Discussion of Executive Committee membership, Announcement of Host of ALT XVI.
17:00-17:30	Closing Address @ HSS Auditorium			