

Kevin Milla

Senior Manager, Zevero

Kevin Milla specialises in business growth through climate and carbon management. With a career in environmental research and consulting, he has expertise in life-cycle assessment (LCA), greenhouse gas accounting, reporting, and target-setting for diverse sustainability projects. His clients include NGOs, educational institutions, MNCs, and SMEs, particularly in maritime, retail, telecommunications, and manufacturing industries.

Kevin's strategic advice has helped these organisations implement effective decarbonisation strategies. He currently leads product carbon footprint and life cycle assessment services at Zevero. Kevin has enhanced his skills through practical application of benchmarks like the ISO 14000-series, the Greenhouse Gas Protocol, the SBTi, and the GRI. He holds a master's in environmental engineering, having researched waste management and air emissions in Asia. Previously, he worked on sanitation, water-saving, public health campaigns, and community development in South Asia and Africa.
